Saved for Krista!!

Barbara - Beep - Mommy or Isa-Barba (which ever is perferred)
(my spelling ↗)

I don't even know where to begin. This year has gone by so fast. How could we have possibly done all the naughty things we did? (and didn't do?!) It's so much easier knowing someone who listens to all disgusting, perverted things I want, but find away not to do! all though I know it started *years ago, I know we wouldn't be as close if it weren't for the last few months. (*1yr. ago.) From the night at Daves house when we were "slightly tipsey" all my wasted tears. I don't recall who for, be it Keith or the little bail bird, they were a waste. (remember: "Who's that song by?") That night was the start of endless trips to "2025 Sahara" with our fingers over the peak role. How about that Thursday night, Little J.P.! we know legs are killers. (growl!) We also know that that Bingo Palace would have been a steak dinner at the (then purrr...) could have had two others hell of a lot better if we with us. (Their loss!) How about "I don't get high!" we are such good little girls. Back on the subject of that thurs. night - you understand how cramp it was on the couch, don't you? Tim really doesn't have any modesty! But who cares, sometimes I don't either. How about the night you left my house too early? when Dave asked where you were I should have said: "She's totally not here!!" and then when Tim wants me to give in I can simply reply: "In due time!" But the time is now and where is he?! We really do need a "hidaway" parking lot where no person can spy on us. For all the time we have spent over there and not been busted for it, we really deserve brownie buttons. Maybe one fine day we can finally SPACE them forgood.

One thing or place we cant leave out is the good ole PortTack! there is a lot of memories from there. (aside from Timmy!) for instance, how about the first Tack Party. We just had to go for pizza first. So we could meet (and only) a couple of "fine specimans". Yes, we are freshmans at U.N.L.V. (quick give me your rins!)

'Good Times' chosen for Homecoming '80

"These are the Good Times" was the central theme of Homecoming '80. The different dress-up days featured costumes for Hawaiian, Punk Rock, Gangster, Little Kids, and the traditional Black and Gold Day. Activities held during both lunches included limbo contests, punk rock dances, root beer guzzling, cookie eating, and the annual Letterman's Jail, all adding pizzaz to an already extraordinary week.

In class competition, the Senior Class won the award for the best hall decorations, while the Junior Class captured first place in both Volkswagen races and in the float competition.

The assembly generated much enthusiasm, with Stephen George winning the title of Mr. Football, and Doug Farrar winning the Ugly Man title in a competition sponsored by the Spanish Club. After a hard-fought battle, the Chargers defeated Las Vegas High 21-12. Saturday night's dance, one of the largest ever, featured music by the Las Vegas International Sound Company. Couples entered the room by crossing a bridge under a rainbow, a final reminder that "These Are the Good Times."

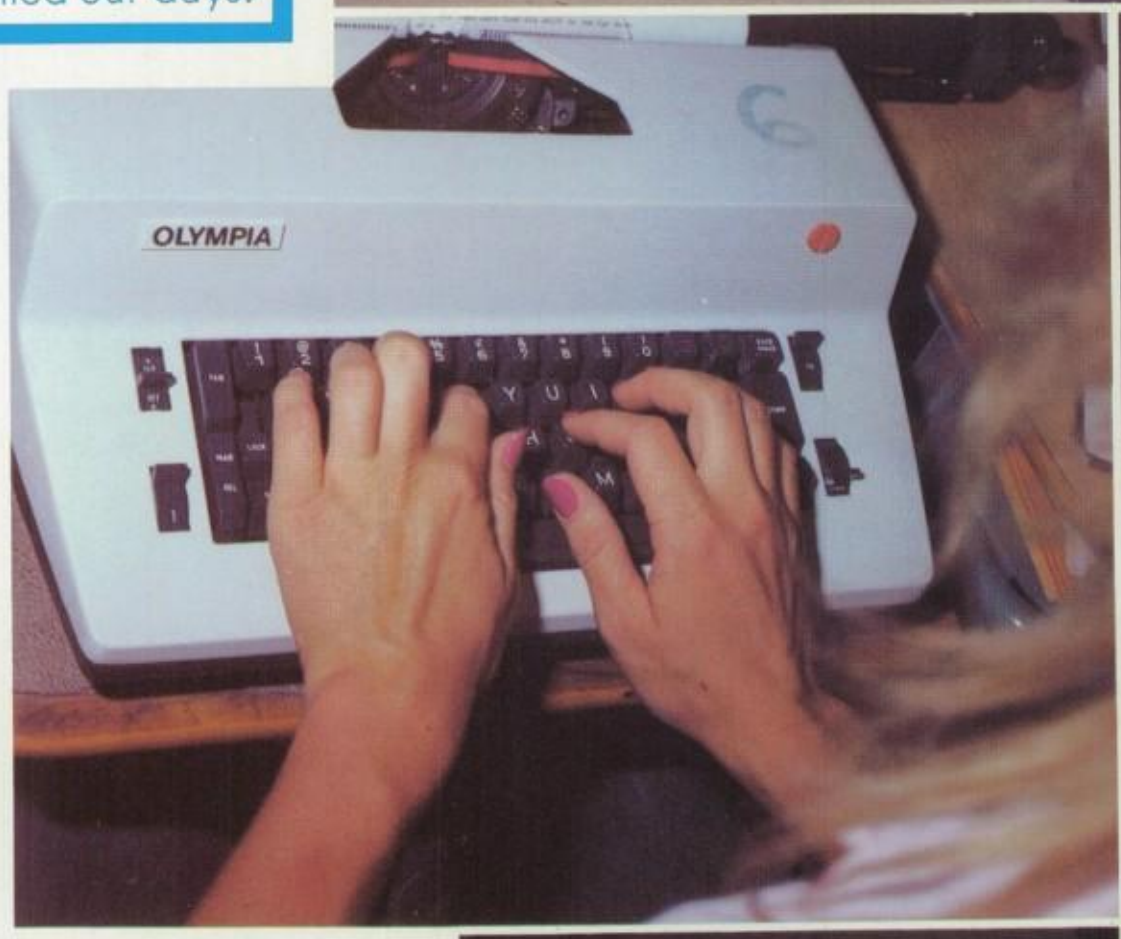
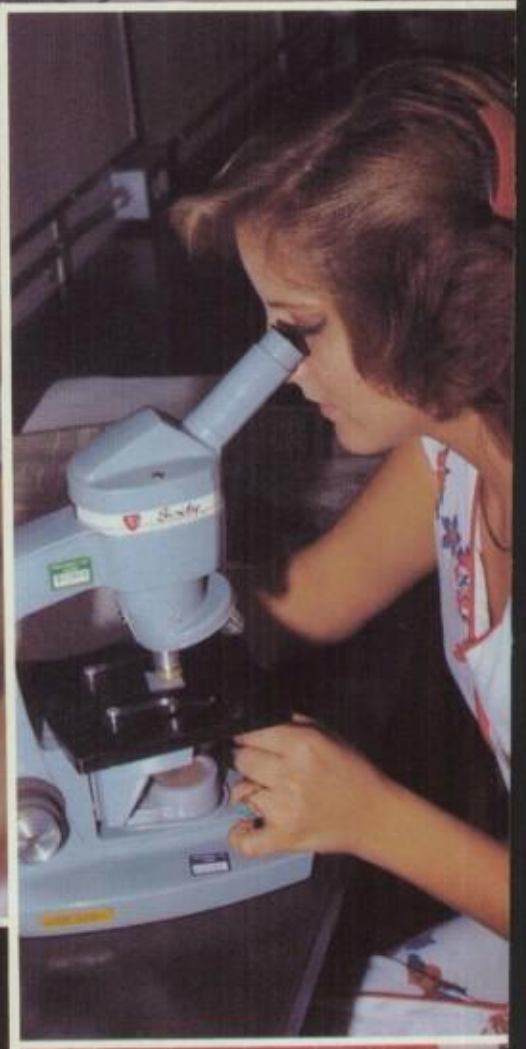
Is there life after Homecoming?

For most of us,
little events
filled our days.





We —

let the world go by,
typed essays, sometimes frantically, squinted at crawly things,
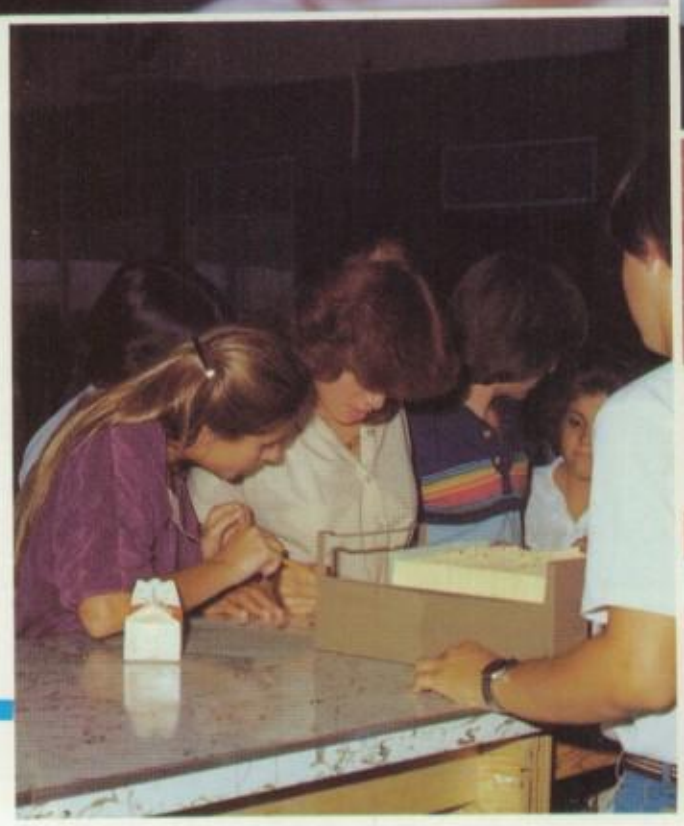
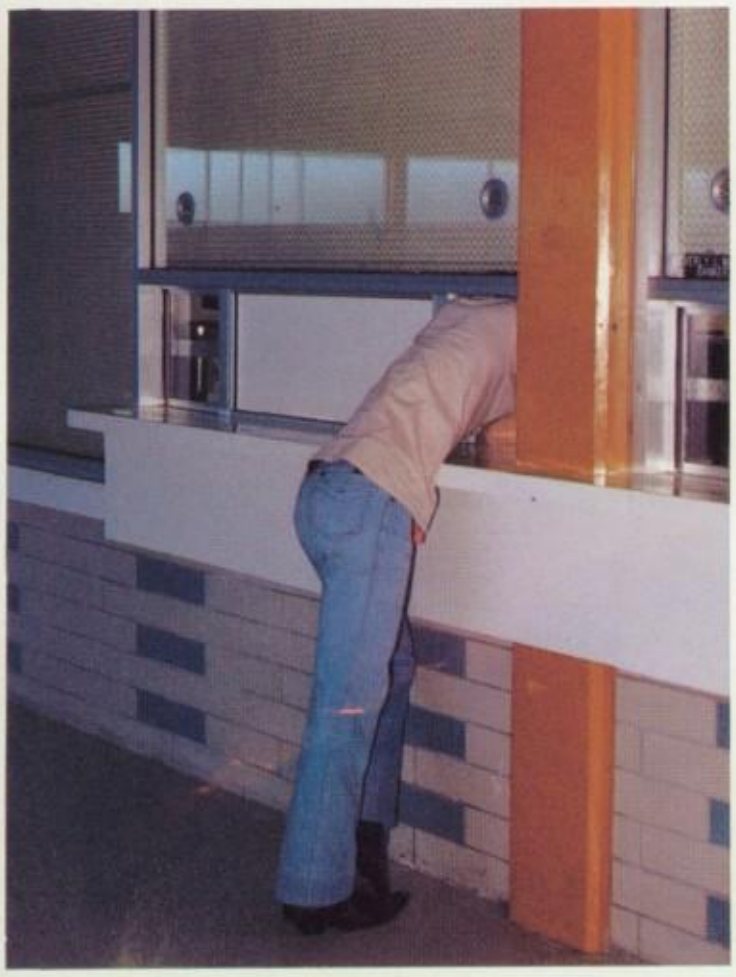
bought flowers for special people,
figured out schedules,





hung campaign posters — and hoped,
sat and talked about weekend plans,
paid endless fees and fines,
crammed stuff in tiny lockers.

Dracula walks again as Clark thespians exhibit acting ability

The Clark Drama Department presented Dracula, the world-famous vampire thriller, as the first production of the year on November 19, 20, and 22.

Set in an old Victorian mansion, the play involves Dr. Seward, his fiancee Lucy, and their mysterious neighbor, Count Dracula. Lucy is suffering from a strange disease which concerns her aunt, Mrs. Harker, and matters are not helped by Renfield with his bizarre behavior. Dr. Seward summons the help of Professor Van Helsing and, under her questioning, the odd facts of Lucy's case begin to emerge. Once the professor meets the count, she suspects the horrible truth and sets out to destroy him.

Special effects, including a smoke machine, and dramatic lighting provided atmosphere for the production. Adding a whimsical touch to the play was the melodramatic acting which heightened the suspense.

Dating roles reverse; couples enjoy change with Sadie Hawkins

The annual Sadie Hawkins dance, sponsored by the Senior Class Council, was held in November in the school cafeteria. Senior royalty were included this year with Matt Stromer as Lil' Abner and Laura Fielden honored as Daisy Mae. In addition, the elected attendants were Sharon Kishner and Tim Bombard, Marleen Bostaph and Steve McCauley, and Debbie Addis and David Arredondo.

The event came about from the popular comic strip Lil' Abner by Al Capp. According to the strip, female residents of Dogpatch can capture husbands on Sadie Hawkins Day. Therefore, Sadie Hawkins is a girls' reverse.

A popular feature of the evening was the marriage booth with Mr. Ken Kucan playing Marryin' Sam.

Powder puff teams battle for supremacy but finish with 6-6 tie

The traditional powder puff game, sponsored by the Varsity Club, pitted Steve's Studs, coached by Steve George, against Red's Raiders, coached by Steve McCauley, in a battle of determination, skill, and competitiveness. Despite excellent play on both sides, the final score was tied 6-6.

The actual game was a climax to a week of fierce team spirit as the female gridders endured sore muscles and bruised flesh during the daily practices to gain a glimpse of the effort required of their male counterparts. The game, though technically flag football, still provided some physical contact and many spills.

Completing the traditional scenes were male cheerleaders, all Varsity Club members, whose antics added humor to the sidelines.

Holiday activities add a feeling of warmth in a time of sharing

The holiday season was welcomed by the students of Clark in the form of different dressup days and lunchtime activities. Costumes featured traditional Christmas symbols: Ebeneezer Scrooge, elves, ornaments and tinsel, mistletoe, and the colors red and green. Lunchtime activities included Mystery Gift, Scavenger Hunt, Blind Cookie Decorating, and Egg Nog Drinking. The drill team sponsored Christmas Tree Lane and awarded individual trophies to each of the four winners: Most Original, Spanish Club; Best Theme, Senior Class Council; Judges' Choice, Spanish Club; and People's Choice, Flagtwirlers. The Drama Department sold carnations throughout the week and presented the annual Christmas scenes. The Child Haven party was a success due to the efforts of the Senior Class Council. The assembly was the climax to an eventful and fun-filled week.

Stubborn donkeys add variety to basketball

Earthquake, Double Trouble, Dynamite — these and five other smelly, stubborn beasts brought laughter to the Clark audience during February's annual donkey basketball game. They also brought sore muscles and aching bones to the riders who attempted to keep their composure — not to mention their seats — while guiding their mounts into scoring positions.

Sponsored by Varsity Club, the event matched the Executive Council against the faculty, who won 10-4. The victorious teachers then challenged the Varsity Club and won a second time, 4-2. The drill team and flag twirlers provided a change of pace with their halftime performances.

Spanish Club hosts annual Girls' Reverse

A typical night out enjoyed by those who attended the Girls' Reverse included dinner, the dance, and a midnight show in a Strip hotel. The February event, sponsored annually by the Spanish Club, drew more than 200 people. A room in the Sahara Space Center provided ample room for the crowd.

"Celebration" was the theme of the evening, which featured a mobile disco unit, the G & W Sound Company. Large bunches of multi-colored, helium-filled balloons created a festive atmosphere. On the day before, Spanish Club members sold long-stemmed carnations which were picked up by recipients before the school day began.

Students show pride with historical tribute

During the observance of Black History Week, February 9-13, Clark High School was host to many activities.

The annual fashion show in the Little Theater gave students an opportunity to model contemporary, fashionable clothing furnished by Bob Coffman's Formal Attire, Ziedler and Ziedler, and African Fashions. TFAC members also presented a play.

Throughout the week, black community officials and businessman were on campus to answer questions and make presentations. On Career Day, several speakers were available for professional consultation.

The week was concluded by the annual Black History Week assembly which was dedicated to A. Phillips Randolph, a civil rights activist and labor leader. At the assembly, TFAC members performed a traditional African dance, and read poetry relating to the black movement. In addition, several students utilized their musical talents to entertain the audience. Calvin Johnson and Pam Cooper were crowned Afro King and Queen.

One-acts showcase dramatic expression

In March, the Clark High Drama Department presented a variety of theatrical offerings. Five one-act plays, performed by the Advanced Theater class, showed both drama and comedy acting.

"Asylum," which was used as the competition one-act in the Clark County Drama Tournament, was an abstract play which incorporated several choreographed dance sequences. The play thematically revealed man against society through numerous techniques such as a simulated crucifixion.

Other plays performed included "To Burn a Witch," dealing with a seventeenth century witch trial in Massachusetts, and "The Indian Wants the Bronx," a play involving an Indian guru searching for his son and the two Bronx hoodlums who harrass him. On the lighter side, "The Diary of Adam and Eve" provided a satirical view of the first man and woman, and "Lemonade" created a humorous vignette of two elderly women selling lemonade along a highway.

Education expanded: seniors master tests, foreign youth learn

Each year Clark seniors show scholastic achievement by winning various awards. This year was not different, as seniors took honors at the Sun Youth Forum, in NMSQT, Gemco, Century III, and Senate Youth Program. Seniors Bryan Hildebrand, Monica Smith, Craig Robinson, Allison Rittenhouse, and Paul Fallon all qualified as National Merit Scholarship Semi-Finalists.

Paul Fallon and Kris Schultz took honors as Gemco Scholarship area finalists. In order to qualify, each had to answer two questions dealing with current events. Their spontaneous answers were judged by a panel of judges.

At the annual Sun Youth Forum, Senior Doug Fuller was chosen as a finalist. He then summarized his group's views on a local television show.

Craig Robinson won the statewide, competition for the Senate Youth Leadership award, thereby winning a trip to Washington to attend seminars with other state winners. He also was a Century III Leadership semi-finalist on the state level.

During the 80-81 school year Clark had four exchange students. To participate, a student filled out a questionnaire and underwent an interview. When the students reached the United States, they stayed with host families for their entire visit.

Learning enjoyed, government explained at Girls', Boys' State

Being able to attend Nevada Boys' and Girls' State is an honor which is given each year to selected juniors from each high school.

In order to attend state, the applicants must fill out a form that includes activities and leadership experience; a biographical essay completes the application. To narrow down the applicants so that the most qualified students represent Clark, the applications are reviewed by a committee of teachers and administrators.

On arriving at state, the students are divided into groups which consist of various delegates from the different high schools throughout Nevada. After splitting into city groups, the students establish a routine which consists of various speakers from the state and local government, mock elections, and inter-dorm competitions.

Honor students offer time, efforts, ideas in community projects

Community service was the primary goal of Clark's 80-81 National Honor Society. Starting off the year by helping with registration, the honor students continued the year with many other school and community-related projects. The group donated their services to the school to help with the hearing and vision testing of sophomores.

During the annual Parent Open House, honor students were there to guide the visitors around the premises. Students also volunteered their time in caroling at a local convalescent home and wrapping presents for the Salvation Army. As in past years, Honor Society entered a tree in Christmas Tree Lane. The group also sponsored two blood drives.

In order for students to be eligible to be a National Honor Society member, they must fill out an application, show academic superiority (3.5 GPA or better), and be interested in community affairs.

Intelligence prevails as Varsity Quiz team excels in competition

Vast knowledge, a quick mind and a fast trigger finger were a few of the many qualities needed to be in Varsity Quiz. Besides including meaningful academic subjects, the questions cover other areas; one might be asked to name Donald Duck's nephews, or to say what Johnnie Walker is famous for. Where is the duodenum located, or what is a panpipe?

Knowledge is not the only criterion for Varsity Quiz success. Knowing the answers is not enough; a player must be able to hit the buzzer first, thus receiving the chance to answer. If the answer is incorrect, the opposing team has a chance to respond. Accuracy is essential.

This year's Varsity Quiz team consisted of approximately 20 members. It was led by Paul Fallon who chaired the team for the majority of the year. Their advisor was Mr. John Harrington.

The Varsity Quiz team not only competed with other schools but also had some of its matches televised. Varsity Quiz gave the students who played a chance to letter in a nonphysical sport.

Dragonslayers relive medieval adventures through fantasy game

For the past three years a group of imaginative students at Clark has met once a week to act out their fantasies in a game called Dungeons and Dragons.

Dungeons and Dragons is a game in which a player rolls a group of oddly-shaped dice and takes an imaginary journey through a castle dungeon. To begin the game, players will roll the dice to determine what traits their character will have. They then consult a rule book to see what kind of adventure they will have. A player will travel through a dungeon, encountering beasts and dragons while trying to gain as much gold as possible. Because of the design of the game, there can be no real winner; but the difficulty of the adventure and the amount of gold obtained usually determines the most successful player of the day.

Editors communicate with words, pictures, and writing abilities

With 17 years combined experience in journalism, five seniors provided leadership in publications.

Veterans Valerie Talley and Scott Farrow, who were in the journalism program since ninth grade, and Lisa Loesch joined forces to lead the CHARGER staff throughout the year. Although the masthead listed Valerie as editor-in-chief and Scott and Lisa as co-editors, all three shared in editorial discussions as well as the supervision of production.

For Craig Robinson, editing the 1981 CAVALCADE was the culmination of two years' training for the job. He began planning the book in March of 1980 and shortly thereafter asked Sharon Kishner to assist him. By September, they had developed the theme and graphic design ideas for the book and began actual production with staff members.

Newspaper requires experience, creativity

Fifteen students made up the CHARGER staff for the year '80-'81. Staff members needed journalistic abilities as well as self-discipline, as there were deadlines every three weeks which had to be met in order to produce the newspaper on time.

Issues alternated between four and eight pages except for the senior edition. Assignments for the class varied from news writing and features to editorials and sports. Topics included the mock government system and the controversial Question 6. Drawing layouts for pages and making proof corrections were other areas of newspaper work. Staff members sold advertisements to help cover the cost of printing.

The staff worked under the supervision of editor-in-chief Valerie Talley, editors Scott Farrow and Lisa Loesch, and advisor Judi Hale. The Nifty Nickel provided the professional printing support.

Cavalcade demands diligence, imagination

This year the Cavalcade staff was larger than usual. There were thirty-one students in the room, making compatability essential. They were divided into groups, each of which were assigned different sections of the yearbook. After the groups were formed, each member was responsible for several pages to complete. Next, the layouts were drawn, pictures selected, and copy written. Outside work was needed when deadlines had to be met. In December, a third of the book had to be completed to meet the first deadline. The other two deadlines occurred in January and March.

The seven photographers were another major part of the yearbook staff. These individuals were responsible for shooting, developing, and printing the hundreds of pictures in the yearbook except for the portraits.

Leadership, ability become integral part of Executive Council

Providing a strong government for the school was the major goal of the Executive Council this year. Headed by Rob Ropell and advised by Mrs. Jo Peterson, the council was responsible for several major activities. The Homecoming Dance, coronation and flower sale were main projects in October. The Executive Council, comprised of the nine elected members, the president of each class, the two presidents of the Student Senate and a hard-working, appointed secretary, was also in charge of chairing the Homecoming Committee.

Student groups aid in Homecoming plans, community projects

The Student Senate broke away from the norm this year and succeeded in choosing two presidents to head the Senate. Senior Dave Jaffe and Junior Brett Roehr were the co-presidents. Activities this year consisted of assisting the Homecoming Committee and organizing the newly created Welcoming Committee. Also falling under the jurisdiction of the Senate was the annual United Way food and money donation drive.

Comprised of close to 30 students, the Homecoming Committee worked on a variety of chores in order to assure that this year's Homecoming would run smoothly. Not only was the committee responsible for decorating for the dance, but also was confronted with the task of sending invitations to Clark's outstanding alumni and creating the schedule for the annual Homecoming assembly.

Cheerleaders supply spirit and excitement for school activities

Spirit and fun-filled described the varsity cheerleaders of 1980-81. The cheerleaders promoted school spirit by making signs, performing skits, and leading cheers at games and assemblies. Student involvement along with a talented squad proved to be a good combination for school spirit. Dana Gerhart was head cheerleader for the squad picked in the spring of 1980.

This year the cheerleaders went to camp at Pepperdine University in Malibu, California. While there, the squad practiced routines, learned new cheers and techniques, and met other cheerleaders. At camp they also earned awards for talent, leadership, and the signs they made. A superior trophy and the spirit stick were awarded to them for their overall performance at camp. To combat the rising cost of uniforms and materials, the squad raised money from bake sales, car washes, and flower sales. Mrs. Brendia Crosby again advised the group.

JV cheerleaders add spirit and excitement to sophomore games

Whether cheering teams on at games or arousing spirit at assemblies, the junior varsity cheerleaders contributed their support to the JV sports program. In the summer the girls went to cheerleading camp at Pepperdine University in Malibu, California, and returned with two spirit sticks for competition and superior ribbons for performance. All of the girls were two-year veterans from Hyde Park, Cashman, and Kenny Guinn Junior High Schools except Sam Pilkington, who was a one-year veteran from Hyde Park. Incorporating this experience into their practices, the squad perfected routines from previous years and created new ones.

Songleaders provide spirited entertainment for student enjoyment

The songleaders had a very eventful school year, highlighted by supplying student entertainment, fund-raising, and attending a summer camp. This year saw many changes on the squad, including several new members. Only two of the nine songleaders returned from last year's group. Although the group was new, many members had experience in previous performing groups. Another change from last year was the move from precision to more dance in their routine.

During the summer the songleaders attended a camp at Pepperdine University in Malibu, California. There they earned numerous spirit and execution awards. They received a superior trophy, a spirit stick, and many spirit ribbons; they also placed third out of 38 squads in the home routine competition.

Money for uniforms and supplies was raised by many worthwhile activities. The sale of football programs, the production of a songleading clinic, and a car wash covered their expenses sufficiently. The squad was advised by Ms. Marilyn Pyles with help from head songleader Lynn Chavira.

Cavalaires execute knowledge of dance

Selectively chosen by a panel of judges during the latter part of the 1979-1980 school year were 17 girls to represent the Clark Cavalaires drill team. The girls endured 7 a.m. practices each day and frequently engaged in after school and pre-game practices. These long hours of practice enabled the drill team to perform quite competitively at a summer camp which they attended at the San Diego State University. The awards the girls received included a first place trophy for their competition routine, a superior trophy, a spirit trophy, and numerous superior ribbons. Two individual trophies were also awarded to Captain Laura Fielden and Betsy Bonds for being "Super Star Drill Team Members."

Throughout the school year, the Cavalaires performed at spirit assemblies, football games, basketball games, and the annual Halftime Review. The team also engaged in trips to other states for competition. They accompanied the band to El Paso, Texas during the Thanksgiving holiday and later they traveled to Santa Monica, California to compete nationally.

Flagtwirlers add life to assemblies, games with stylish routines

The flagtwirlers worked during the year to add spirit and life to the pep assemblies and games. The group, composed of twelve girls and one alternate, had only four returning girls from last year's squad with nine new faces.

Attending camp this summer at Pepperdine University in Malibu Beach, California, the team won first place for their home routine. They also brought home a superior trophy and numerous individual awards. During the year the twirlers performed with the band at Halftime Review which was held at the Silver Bowl. The head flagtwirler was junior Julie Parker. The group was advised by Miss Theresa Conerly.

Vocal ensembles add harmony, enjoyment to all performances

Musical talent was showcased among four Clark vocal groups: Girls' Glee, Mixed Choir, Madrigals, and Counterpoint.

The first two, Girls' Glee and Mixed Choir, performed in concerts throughout the year, including Christmas programs at the Boulevard and Meadows Malls. Girls' Glee shared a concert appearance with Chaparral High School, and the Mixed Choir appeared on a special Christmas program on channel 5.

The Madrigals, richly dressed in Elizabethan costumes, provided entertainment for various civic groups, including luncheon meetings of the Kiwanis Club and Junior League. They, too, made Christmas appearances at local shopping malls.

Counterpoint's season was highlighted by a performance with Paul Anka at Caesars Palace during his December 27-January 5 engagement. They performed two shows nightly with the entertainer and appeared on his nationally televised New Year's Eve show.

Million Dollar Band entertains audiences with energetic music

The Million Dollar Band, under the direction of William McMosley, began drills and rehearsals in August in preparation for the year's marching events and festivals.

In November, the band traveled to El Paso, Texas, to participate in a marching competition and the Sun Bowl Parade. While in Texas, the musicians earned the title of best-out-of-state marching band.

The concert and symphonic bands practiced throughout the year, learning sight-reading skills and rhythms. The bands participated in a spring festival and planned a tour.

Jazz bands I and II competed in jazz festivals at Riverside, California, Reno, and Chaffey College. Both bands had full membership, an improvement over last year's program.

To raise money for equipment and tours, the groups sold fruit cakes and held concerts at several local businesses.

Tall Flags exhibit skill in perfecting routines

The 1980-81 Charger Brigade was led by captain Leslie McFredrick and advised by Ms. Donna Kuhle. Both shared the thought that the group had had a very successful year. During football season the girls were on the field each morning at 7 o'clock to perfect their routines for the crowd's entertainment. Their precision routines added color and flair to the band's halftime performances and marching appearances. During the summer the girls went to camp in Long Beach, California, and returned with second place in competition and a ribbon for the most spirit. At the end of August the girls held car washes to raise money for new uniforms.

Bunnies give support to Clark soccer team

Throughout the year, the SoccerBunnies' goal was to get more people involved in soccer, because most of the games showed very poor attendance. To accomplish this goal, the Soccer Bunnies held special projects to publicize soccer games like filling the halls of Clark with signs, encouraging people to go to the games, and putting messages on the marquee.

All 48 members of the JV and Varsity Soccer Bunnies assumed many responsibilities throughout the year. These included keeping the game balls as well as recovering the balls during the games, cheering, supplying oranges and gum to the soccer players, and holding candy sales to support their activities.

They were chosen at the beginning of the year through grades, past participation in school activities, and a final interview.

Mrs. Karen Girard, who has advised Soccer Bunnies for the past six years, and Mrs. Sharon Weller both advised the Soccer Bunnies.

Varsity athletes host powder puff football, stage letterman's jail

Lettering in at least one varsity sport is the requirement for membership in the Varsity Club. This year brought a change to the group; no longer did prospective members endure the day-long initiation complete with costumes and stunts. Male members dressed up as girl cheerleaders in the powder puff football game. The lettermen's jail, traditionally a Varsity Club project, was a main fund raiser for the group. Members also participated in the annual donkey basketball game in February. Steve McCauley was president of the group.

Wrestlerettes provide support for matmen

The 1980-81 Wrestlerettes, advised by Coach Duane Loesch, included 15 girls who contributed their time and effort in support of Clark's wrestlers. They helped with both JV and varsity teams.

The girls were scorekeepers at home matches, taking responsibility for both team and individual scores. In addition they were official timekeepers. Perhaps their greatest value to the team was their psychological support evidenced by their cheers. Various fund raisers were car washes, bake sales, and donut sales. The money they raised helped toward the purchase of uniforms and oranges for the wrestlers. The girls also attended all away tournaments the team had. The president of the Wrestlerettes was Anna Horner.

Drama Club provides learning experiences in acting procedures

Fund raisers opened the year for the Drama Club. Various sales were held, including a candy sale, a bake sale, and a Christmas flower sale. The money raised was put to good use, aiding in the numerous plays sponsored by the club, the annual Drama Club trip, and the banquet held at the end of the year.

The Drama Club was a very active club, for throughout the year, members entered a number of tournaments, both out of town and local. A tournament held in San Diego, California, during December proved very rewarding to the members, who brought home three trophies; Shelly Panico and Mike Ream each received first place, and Kelly Clinton returned with a third place. Aside from raising money, sponsoring plays, and competing in tournaments, the club also performed the annual Christmas and Spring scenes.

The year ended with the Drama Club's annual banquet, which featured special awards for best actor and actress, best supporting actor and actress, and most improved. Teresa Marillo was this year's president and Ms. Carrol Statom the advisor.

Skiers wait patiently for snow to arrive

The drought, which affected the entire western part of the United States during the winter of 1980-81, brought disappointment to members of the ski club. Resorts, which usually were packed with skiers, could not even open full time, though some relied on man-made snow for limited operation. Therefore, club members eagerly watched weather reports in hope of snow.

The group, which included both novice and expert skiers, planned trips to Park City, Utah, and other resorts. Heading the organization, traditionally one of Clark's largest, was President Paul Starcher. Mrs. LaRen Fleming and Mr. Bill Burthold advised the club. Members raised funds with car washes, a ski movie, and the sale of baked goods and candy.

CHS Spanish Club visits culture festival, hosts annual reverse

This year, the Spanish Club had the biggest member turnout in the history of the group, totaling 55. They learned about Spanish customs and lifestyles. Courses in foreign language were not necessary to be a member.

The group sponsored many activities including the Ugly Man Contest, an election in which the student body purchases the winners' title for one cent per vote. The Girls' Reverse Dance, traditionally held in February, was also sponsored by Spanish Club.

This year, the club's entry in Christmas Tree Lane was unique. The theme was "A Tacky Taco Christmas." It was creatively decorated with taco shells and tortillas rolled into glittered burritos. Popcorn and jalapeno peppers completed the authentic Spanish style decoration.

The Cinco de Mayo holiday, celebrated in many Southern California communities, provided an opportunity for club members to enjoy a weekend trip.

French Club Students sell T-shirts, jewelry to earn extra funds

French Club gave students a chance to be introduced to the French culture without being enrolled in a class. Members engaged in many activities such as the annual Christmas luncheon and the installation dinner at Café Michel. The luncheon was unique because each student had to prepare a French dish. The assortment of foods was served buffet style in the home economics room.

The group raised money by selling T-shirts with French logos such as "Embrasse-moi" and "L'enfant terrible" imprinted on the front. Jewelry, such as sterling silver rings and gold-plated necklaces, were also sold. Mrs. June Hop advised the club.

FBLA members gain experience for future with trips, speakers

Typing, shorthand, consumer math and spelling were just a few of the skills that were required for the Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA) members. These skills helped members in business contests and in the state FBLA convention, which was held in Las Vegas.

Accountants, advertisers and lawyers were just a few of the speakers who gave the members an insight into different business professions. A field trip to the Thorndal, Backus, Lyles & Maupin law offices gave the members an opportunity to view the job of an attorney.

DECA accents work, provides experience for students' future

Participating in such worthwhile activities as visiting the Charleston Convalescent Home, hosting Career Day or arranging monthly breakfast meetings soon became a necessity for becoming a DECA member.

For the 1980-81 year there were 80 students comprising three DECA classes. Within the club itself, ten chapter officers were elected and were responsible for organizing major activities. In November, 14 students from Clark along with two chaperones attended the DECA Western Regional in Colorado Springs, Colorado. Later in the year DECA hosted the annual Gong Show which featured a $99.99 first place prize and Mike McCoy from KLUC as the emcee.

DECA also was privileged to have speakers from various businesses including the manager from Mervyn's and a representative from Toastmasters. Members enjoyed gaining practical training to be used in a variety of business situations in the future.

Arts magazine allows personal expression for creative students

The 1980-81 arts magazine allowed Clark students with creative abilities an opportunity to showcase their work. Prose, poetry, art, and photography highlighted the volume, produced annually in the spring.

Students from the Creative Writing class formed the magazine staff, who wrote, edited, and compiled most of the work published. An editorial board consisting of Krysti Reid, Chris Sasso, Marianne Nelson, Kay Hutchings, Mark Berry, and Leticia Falzone helped Advisor Kay McGarvey make final selections of material to be included.

Hispanic Club goal: heritage awareness

This year marked the second year in which the Hispanic Club has been at Clark. The Hispanic Club is a cultural program to unite the various ethnic groups of the student body into one fellowship. They held various activities throughout the year which included candy and bake sales and a luncheon for the faculty. During Christmas week the group sold bells and sponsored a Can-U-Guess contest. TFAC helps promote community relations

In 1980, TFAC, Together For A Change, supported many worthwhile activities to promote human relations within Clark and the community. For Thanksgiving the group collected food for Thanksgiving baskets and distributed it to needy families. TFAC also awarded scholarships to two Clark students based on academic success and service to the community. During Brotherhood Week, TFAC hosted an international banquet and served foods from all countries and all cultures. To provide the community with these services, TFAC had to raise money through various activities, such as numerous car washes and bake sales. TFAC was advised this year by Mrs. Priscilla Adams, Mr. Doug Garner, and Mr. Roy Ware.

Spirit Girls, a group comprised of girls from TFAC, performed at games and assemblies to soul music, providing a form of entertainment different from other dancing groups. Ms. Vera Shorts and Mr. Roy Ware advised the group that was selected in the spring of 1980.

Gridders finish 5-4; players grow weary as big games are lost

Although the varsity football team had a winning season, it was a disappointing year for the players. Through their first six games, the team was in first place with a 5-1 record. Their seventh game was against Gorman, and it was this game that really ended the Chargers' year. Gorman beat Clark 48-10, ending all hopes of going to state. The game was close throughout most of the first half; with approximately four minutes to go in the half, the score was 7-3 in favor of Gorman. When the half ended, it was 35-3.

Before the Gorman game, the team played good football. In the season opener, it was an overtime victory against Western, 14-7. Steve George scored the winning touchdown. In the second game Clark defeated a scrappy Basic team 21-0. Steve George, Mike Cardarelli, and Jeff Wilson all scored touchdowns. Against Eldorado, the Charger defense shut out the opponent for the second straight week, winning 13-0. The game's leading scorer was Blair Brooks, kicking two field goals and an extra point for seven points.

The fourth game was a heartbreaking 7-3 loss to the Rancho Rams. The defense fought off repeated Rancho scoring opportunities, but the Rams finally scored with about a minute to play. Clark's only score came on a 45 yard field goal by Blair Brooks. The following week, the winning ways returned, as Clark defeated Vegas 21-12. Vegas scored first, but the offense got going and scored 21 points in the second quarter. In the conference opener, Clark defeated Bonanza in the last minute. Blair Brooks kicked a 27-yard field goal with 58 seconds left to give the team a 10-7 victory.

After these first six games, Clark's defense was the toughest in the city, allowing only 5.5 points per game. The last three games were a nightmare. The Gorman loss was followed by two scoreless defeats, one at the hands of Chaparral and the other against Valley. These final three losses dropped the season's record to five wins and four losses. In conference play Clark finished with one win and three losses.

This season was Coach Richard Whitehead's last year of coaching. He announced his retirement to the team at half time of the Gorman game. Coach Whitehead had been the football coach for the past ten years; in these ten years he guided Clark to two state championships, and he had a lifetime record of 63 wins, 28 losses, and 2 ties. Coach Whitehead always gave "something extra for Clark."

"We were not loaded with talent," said Whitehead. "I think we did a good job with what we had," he added. Steve George was the most valuable player. He led the team in rushing yardage and was described by Coach Whitehead as "one of the best backs in the city."

Impressive offense leads JV to victory

This year's junior varsity football team had an outstanding season, finishing up with an 8-1 record and second place in zone.

Led by quarterback Danny Gracia, this year's offense was impressive. With runningbacks Mark Dudenake and Greg Peeples, Clark had a very strong running game. Starting receivers Warren Karosa, Paul Thomas, and Mike Skurow made Clark's passing game complement the running game by always presenting the threat of an aerial assault. The holes opened up for the running game and the time given to the quarterback were created by the offensive line: Kevin Spencer (C), Steve Gresh (RT), Darrin Calaway (LT), Kent Donithan (RG), and John Murphy (LG).

The JV's hard-hitting defense was another reason for their success. The defense was able to stop the opponent from gaining substantial yardage, thus enabling the offense to receive the ball in good field position. The defense included linemen Phillip Kleinpeter (LT), Eddie Borelli (NG), and Ed Custard (RT); linebackers Kent Donithan and Kevin Spencer; cornerbacks Pat Sullivan (RC) and Vance Hutchinson (LC); safeties Gary Gunny (LS) and Danny Gracia (RS).

The players attributed their success to Jim Massey and Dusty Satterfield. "Very seldom in life does the opportunity arise to associate with and coach the quality of individuals that this year's JV team had; to them I tip my hat. Their dedication, determination, and intensity through many long hours of hard and often painful work allowed them to achieve a goal that many only dream about. My sincere thanks and best wishes go with all these young men," said Coach Satterfield.

Cross country team completes tough season with individual talent

The cross country team this year had a very competitive season. The team trained hard over the summer months, but the competition proved just too much for the small Charger team.

The Chargers had a struggling season but still had many strengths. The team leaders for the boys were sophomores Henry Holland and Doug Purdue, placing big wins in the Boulder City and Gorman invitationals. Usually placing first and second in almost all the meets, Carolyn Canella and Tish Stoebner proved to be the strength of the girls' team.

"Next year we need runners or we'll lose the cross country program. We desperately need girls for next year's team; the team's there for those who want to run," stated Coach Berthold.

Lack of experience hurts girls' golf team

This year's golf team, consisting of three sophomores and two juniors, was one of the youngest teams Clark has ever had. After losing two four-year letterwinners, the team found it difficult to adjust, despite the efforts of Coach Jiles Reiley. Lisa Miller was a medalist in the first two matches of the year, but the team could not attain the scores needed to win the matches.

During the year three girls were medalists in various matches. In addition to Lisa, Linda Showers and Teri Ennes played some excellent rounds of golf.

The year culminated with the State AAA Championship in Reno, where Lisa came in twelfth.

Charger girls' tennis retains zone crown

The girls' tennis team has long been a dominating force in the Southern Nevada area since its beginning in 1972. The 1980-81 squad lived up to these expectations by maintaining the winning streak of 29 straight matches in season play over the past three years and by winning the zone title for the fourth time in five years. They failed to win state by losing to Reno High 14½-13½ in an extremely close match.

The duo of Dena Curtright and Lisa Schwartz proved to be a winning combination as they took top doubles honors in both the zone and state competitions. Second in the zone doubles were Beth Snavely and Susan Frank. Suzanne Rogers and Kathy Delaney also proved to be a strong doubles team; they were undefeated in season play. Throughout the regular season Curtright and Schwartz were successful at singles along with freshman Cindy Lauer, who maintained a 29-3 record throughout the season. Juniors Katie Scott, Karen Goodall, and Sabra Lessnick, and sophomores Susie Strimling and Cheryl Cohen completed the team.

Coach Robert Wilcox cited seniors Dena Curtright and Suzanne Rogers as outstanding players. Both have played on the team since their freshman years.

Boys' tennis finishes with one-loss record

This year's boys' tennis team was strong but not strong enough. They had an undefeated season until they met up with Chaparral. It was a tough, long match; the final score was $13\frac{1}{2}$-$14\frac{1}{2}$. They lost by only one point, but that one point cost them the zone title and a chance for their fifth consecutive state title.

Clark's team lost six out of eight starting players last year; the two returning players were Darren Bresee and Bobby Strimling, who teamed up this year for doubles in the individuals tournament and came out with the zone and state titles.

Other strong players were senior Cary Payne and junior Kelly Brown, who played singles in the individual zone and state tournaments. The team will be losing only four players; if the players returning keep playing tennis, Clark should have a stronger team next year.

Coach Robert Wilcox believes "Tennis is a twelve month sport — you can't lay down your racket for a couple of months and expect to play as well as you did before."

Lady Chargers show pride in team effort

The girls' varsity basketball team did not have a season that was as successful as they had anticipated.

They concluded the schedule with a record of 4-8, beating Bonanza and Basic once and Gorman twice. The team made it to the zone play-offs for the second year in a row; they met Western in their first game but lost 73-60.

During most of the season Sue Murray, a 5'4" junior, led the team in scoring with a 20.3 average per game. Coach Theresa Conerly termed Murray "a very coachable player." Though she suffered injuries which took her out of play in the last games, she still gained All-Conference first team honors.

Junior Sue Evans earned second team All-Conference distinction. Coach Conerly also praised the performance of Kira Strehlow, a sophomore who scored consistently and turned in a startling 21 points in the final game with Western in the zone tournament.

JV's face struggle with tough competitors but maintain control

The JV girls' basketball team had a tough season. Inexperience with the confusion of being coached with many previous coaching techniques and the relatively small size of the team seemed to create the main setbacks, according to Coach Raul Medrano, who served his first year in the position. Medrano praised the girls' willingness to learn and their improvement of basic skills. At the close of the season, he assessed their deficiencies as primarily in the areas of poor rebounding, poor team play, and poor free throw shooting.

Jamie Bendorf, whose playing improved immensely throughout the season, was a big contributor to the team's effort. The mid-season arrival of Wanda Clark proved advantageous for the Chargers. Medrano predicted both players would perform well in varsity competition next year.

CHS cagers combine skill, talent, teamwork for winning season

Clark High's varsity basketball team of 1980-81 proved to be one of the most powerful, talented teams in the school's history. Pre-season predictions had given the advantage to Clark. One of the main reasons cited was 6'10" senior Duane Kendall, who headed up the experienced Charger front line. Providing extra offensive punch along with Kendall were juniors Mark Dixon and Bruce Gaitor. However, Clark upheld its tradition of strong defensive play with junior Brian Brown and seniors Jeff Wilson, Kenny Scott and Randy Plentzas providing strong pressure throughout the season. Senior Steve Thomas, juniors Steve Justice, Phil Lipka, and Rodney Thomas, and sophomore Ricky Paulson were the remaining players of this year's team.

Two winter vacation tournaments served as practice exercise. While not counting on their season record, the competition tested the Chargers' skill against worthy opponents. The first Charger outing of the holiday season was the Carson Capital Classic December 18-20. The squad finished in second place with a 2-1 record, beating both Reno (79-51) and Box Elder (70-53), but losing to Carson City (63-70) in their third game.

Clark did noticeably well in the second tournament, the Las Vegas Holiday Prep Classic December 26-30, finishing in fourth place among a field of some of the best squads from not only Southern Nevada, but also from around the country. After beating Boise, Idaho's, Capital High (42-32), the Chargers suffered a disappointing loss in their second game of the tournament by falling to Pennsylvania's Uniontown High (52-56). The team recovered by coming up on top of their next two games against Rhode Island's Providence (65-51) and Seattle, Washington's, Mercer Island (80-71). CHS was the second finisher of the Southern Nevada schools; Rancho High took second place overall.

Head Coach Gary Wheeler stated that the team's strong points were their defensive teamwork and balanced scoring abilities. He did not officially state any weak points, although he frequently complained of his team's not playing at their full potential. He considered teamwork as the basic game plan. Wheeler commented that his players were "talented and good challengers for the state basketball title."

JV basketball team holds strong position with potent defense

Clark not only possessed one of the most talented varsity basketball teams, but also fielded a well-rounded junior varsity squad. Assistant Coach Craig Ballew felt the JV's best asset was their defensive ability, which helped to hold their opponents' points down to a minimum. Coach Ballew felt that the team's only weak point was their lack of experience, a problem with all junior varsity teams. The coaches considered the team to be well-rounded, one which they feel will be an asset to the 1981-82 varsity squad.

Ballew commented that both he and Head Coach John Nelson were proud of their players: "They're hard working kids who always give 100 per cent effort and all have positive attitudes."

Averian Parrish was the leading scorer and played consistently well all year. Other strong players included Michael Thrower, Greg Peeples, Rob MacCachren, Scott Scarborough, Ricky Henry, and Brett Miller.

Lady Chargers roll with mean competition, taking fifth in division

This year's bowling team was very competitive, placing fifth in their division. The stronghold of the team lay in Shonni Beaver, Crystal White, and Sheri Ahrendt with averages of 152, 151, and 135 respectively. The rest of the team consisted of Wendy Ammons, Judy White, Carolyn Ziegler, and Kim Draper with averages of 131, 123, 115, and 110 respectively.

Coach Stuart commented, "Senior Crystal White was a really solid bowler this year. We bowled as well as could be expected considering our lack of experience, but next year we should be really strong with returning starters Shonni Beaver, Sheri Ahrendt, and Wendy Ammons. The girls should do a really good job for us next year."

Boys' bowling squad shows great effort

Bowling season saw the Chargers finish in fourth place. Led by Jon Partell and Dave Jaffe, with averages of 196 and 165 respectively, the boys' team finished the season with an eight game winning streak. The rest of the team included Darryl Smith, 164; Ed Kachnik, 162; Craig Robinson, 158; Andy Cheda, 155; and Kris Schultz, 153.

"We came in fourth in our division, but did as well as expected because our division had the five strongest teams in the city," said Coach Chuck Stuart.

One example of the team's strength was displayed against Gorman when the Chargers rolled a 2,985 series. The high game for an individual was held by Jon Partell with a 258. The over all team average was high with a 178. "Senior Jon Partell should be recognized as a super bowler; he was the top bowler in the city with his 196 average," commented Stuart.

The JV team finished third. "We had a young team that gained a lot of experience and they will fill some big shoes for us next year," said Stuart. He continued, "Andy Cheda, David Kachnik, Brent Webb, Robert Fend, and Roy Graham will be next year's strength."

Varsity soccer team features combination of specialized skills

Leading the varsity soccer team to a successful completion of the 1980-81 season were fullbacks Greg Grassl and Sebastian Balle, halfbacks Shane O'Reily and Chris Collins, and forwards Bill Hanley, Mark Piorkowski and Blair Brooks who aided the Chargers with outstanding performances. Goalie Paul Starcher was considered a league leader in saves, having been an All-Conference goalie for the past three years.

Coach Dave Castro, in his first year on the job, commented, "The combination of outstanding players anchored the team, making them perform exceptionally well in achieving their goals."

Determination was a deciding factor for the kickers and teamwork provided the key to many victories. Growing and developing their momentum, the squad expertly displayed their soccer skills. "Hard work and pride for the school made a fine team," summarized Coach Castro.

JV strikers show talent and teamwork through tough season

Coached by Patrick Webb, the JV soccer team had one of the best seasons Clark High School has ever seen. They averaged five to six points per game, consistently having unusually high scores for soccer. They defeated Chaparral, their toughest competition, 5-1. Leading the JV squad were forwards Jason Cole, Paul O'Gorman and Mike Decker. Also playing consistently well were halfback Gerald Kearney and füllbacks Tim Briare and Jeff Handy. Coach Webb stated, "With the returning JV players, Clark will definitely be a state contender next year."

Opposition surprised as CHS wrestlers gain upset victories

The varsity wrestling team had a very competitive season. Pre-season predictions had them picked to be only respectable, but the grapplers far surpassed the forecast. Head Coach Jim Massey felt that after working out a few small problems such as disciplinary rules and getting people in the correct weight classes, the team really started to perform up to par.

The Chargers' first upset was in January. Bonanza, who was picked to be a contender for the state title, fell victim to a spirited Charger squad. The highlight of this match was Jim Tiscareno's pin of previously unbeaten Gary Cote. Massey felt that the win over Bonanza gave the team the confidence needed to make the season successful.

The biggest surprise of the season was Mike Stein, who wrestled in the 98-pound class. Even though it was Stein's first year as a wrestler, he was a consistent winner. Coach Massey commented that the entire team performed well all year.

This was Massey's first year as head wrestling coach. The team felt that he did an excellent job in giving them the determination and confidence needed to become winners.

JV's learn discipline required in wrestling; record shows results

The junior varsity wrestlers had a promising season, finishing as one of the top teams in the city. "Our main objective throughout the season," said Head Coach Jim Massey, "was to prepare the boys for varsity wrestling." Massey felt that this goal was reached.

Like most junior varsity competitors, this team had a lack of experience. This meant teaching the basics and stressing discipline. Maintaining their wrestling weight posed some problems for most of the squad. "This is a problem that all first year wrestlers encounter," said Massey. As the season wore on, the wrestlers became used to the fundamentals and discipline, and the performances showed this.

Wrestlers who performed well all year long were Eric Staley, Nate Williams, Leo Rodriguez, Dwight Fuller, Frank Carlos, and Gary McAffee. Massey felt that these boys will make contributions to next year's varsity team.

Practice, coordination keep varsity spikers in contention for title

Maturity, dedication and concentration were just a few of the characteristics that helped build this year's varsity volleyball team. The team as a whole had a very good season, and each girl realized she was an essential part of the team's framework.

Playing well thoughout the season were Sue Evans, Terry Cooley, Dana Schneider and Sue Murphy, each of whom Coach Bob Kelley assessed as valuable players on the team. Coach Kelly attributed most of the team's success to daily practices of two to two and one-half hours. Practices were also held on weekends and holidays. In addition, the girls developed the ability to play with poise in pressure situations, many times coming from behind to make the "clutch play" when needed.

The squad was undefeated in regular season play with a brilliant 13-0 record. Their elimination from the zone tournament in a heartbreaking loss to Basic came as a surprise to the entire league.

JV spikers' season shows many talents

This year's junior varsity volleyball team, coached by Ms. Theresa Conerly, stressed endurance and agility during practice. The drills and exercises they learned by playing junior varsity volleyball will be a solid foundation for their varsity playing. Practice was held six days a week, for two and one-half hours a day. The strong players for Clark's JV were Lissa McClure, Dottie Funston, Teresa Thomas, Jill Skanchy, Mildred Payne, and Renee Howard. The rest of the team consisted of Abbi Silver, Tammy Webster, Jackie Smith, Laura Hutzinger, Kathy Shiroky, Michelle Freeman, Sandy Lyons, Felicia Morris, and Lisa Singer.

"We were pretty strong this year since we had a lot of height and experience. Many of this year's girls have returned from last year. We've had a very good season," stated Coach Conerly.

Gymnasts use poise, grace, determination in tough competition

In its third consecutive year, the girls' gymnastics team represented Clark in various meets throughout the state. Competition included teams from the Clark County School District (Western and Eldorado) and also teams belonging to the Nevada Women's Gymnastics Association.

Diligently training to perfect skills, the gymnasts began practicing during the summer months both at school and at private gymnasiums. Practice continued during classtime and also every day after school for two additional hours.

For meet competitions, the girls were divided into various classes: Class One for advanced, Class Two for advanced intermediates, Class Three for intermediates, and Class Four for beginners. Displaying their skills in floor exercise, vault, uneven parallel bars, and balance beam competitions, the individual members were scored from 1 to 10.

In order to raise the necessary funds for their meet expenses, the gymnastics team raised money by selling various items, as well as through their annual cartwheel-a-thon.

School Services help in very special ways

Many special services work year round, behind the scenes, to make school life more productive and pleasurable for all people involved.

The Counseling Department not only aids students in evaluating credits, developing future plans, and helping students with registration, but also with personal problems as well.

The library and audio-visual service provides books, films, magazines, videotapes, and newspapers all wrapped up in peaceful surroundings for the students' convenience and education.

The cafeteria staff works throughout the year serving 1,000 students breakfast and lunch daily. The Federal Government regulations, which prohibited the sale of soft drinks, resulted in a decrease of 100 students served this year, although Mrs. Shirley Winslow, cafeteria manager, also felt the increase in prices also contributed to the decline.

The custodians work various shifts to keep the 40-acre grounds, which include the 7 1/2-acre school, in tip-top shape. Computer controlled thermostats resulted in uneven temperatures throughout Clark High, as the school district attempted to meet Federal guidelines for energy usage.

1. Grant Engle, the audio-visual aide, works with the videotape machine. 2. Mr. Ed Winfrey, on the traditional Charger Cart, is a familiar sight in the Clark halls. 3. Librarian Kathie Clinesmith, updates entries in the card catalog. 4. Mr. Jack Richardson helps a student work out his schedule. 5. Mrs. Cleo Kelly gets ready for the lunchtime rush.

1. Students show enthusiasm at the "Meet-the-Candidates" assembly. 2. Foreign language classes use headphones for dictation. 3. A Computer Math student types his program. 4. Creating a positive and relaxed atmosphere for the Rhetoric class, Mr. John Harrington discusses the connotative meanings of words. 5. Randy Plentzas kisses Natalie Guesman, who is monitored by a lie detector, in a test of sensory reactions in a psychology class.

College prep classes assist students' plans for future education

With minimum competency mandated by Nevada law beginning in 1981, many academic areas at Clark focus considerable attention on basic skills. At the same time, these departments also provide rigorous courses designed to prepare students for higher education.

The Math Department not only offers classes which teach basic mathematical skills but also those in Computer Programing, Algebra II, Trigonometry, Analysis, and Analytical Geometry.

In the field of science, Biology, Physiology, Zoology, Chemistry, and Physics give students a background to advance in science-related areas in college.

French, Spanish, and German are offered; these classes allow students to meet college entrance requirements and also encounter customs and cultures of other countries.

The Language Arts Department features a curriculum designed to develop skills in communication, including writing and literature. English teachers put heavy emphasis on skills needed to pass the Nevada Proficiency Exam.

As a part of an experimental program several government classes spent the year in actual role-playing situations. They staged mock political conventions, and held a presidential election (which gave the victory to Ronald Reagan). Other simulated experiences included model courts, Congress, and the United Nations.

1. Sewing classes build pride and workmanship. 2. An auto shop student performs a tune-up. 3. Students push forward to obtain speed and accuracy during timed writes. 4. In cooking classes, students learn the basics of food preparation. 5. Drafting classes enable students to increase architectural abilities. 6. Sewing classes teach hand and eye-coordination to increase skills.

Students form skills, develop study habits in vocational classes

Some elements of the curriculum feature practical learning experiences useful in daily life.

Business classes offer students the opportunity to learn many office skills. In the classroom, students achieve speed and accuracy through timed writes in typing, shorthand, and briefhand. Other courses stress operation of machines used in today's business offices, the importance of accounting and the usefulness of consumer economics. Through these classes interested students learn the methods of operating efficiently in the business world.

In shop classes students learn the maintenance and repair of automobiles, carpentry and cabinet making, and metal working. Drafting classes teach the fundamentals of architectural design for the present and future.

Child Development and Family Life prepare the interested students for married life and the responsibilities that come with raising a family. Through hands-on experience students learn practical skills in clothing, foods, and interior design.

1. Leslie Thomas keeps up on her notebook in Health. 2. Mrs. Dorothy Adams helps a student in a careers class. 3. The study of human anatomy is only one part of the health classes' curriculum. 4. Posters stress driver safety. 5. Students learn coordination through P.E. classes. 6. Robin Zillman runs a relay in P.E. class.

Health, Driver's Ed, PE classes promote self esteem, fitness

Clark's health courses aid in understanding not only the human body, but also the health problems of the community. Among the subjects studied are anatomy, drug abuse, and sex education.

Driver's Education classes help students learn Nevada's highway rules and regulations along with the responsibility that accompanies driving. Simulator training and behind-the-wheel, even though not required, are offered before and after school.

Incorporated with the health and driver's education program is the physical education department. Students are encouraged to become involved with leisure activities they enjoy. With the concern of fitness on the increase, students are seeking new ways of getting and staying in shape. Tennis, volleyball, softball, archery, badminton, and basketball are a few of the many different sports which are introduced in the program.

Musical, artistic skill perfected by students

Practicing, perfecting, performing ... fine and performing arts students worked endless hours sketching and painting pictures, forming clay, memorizing lines for plays, and practicing music.

The Fine Arts Department offered a curriculum especially designed for students wishing to pursue art as a career. Featured courses included metal art, ceramics, drawing, painting, commercial design, and photography.

The Performing Arts Department entertained with musical talents as well as dramatic abilities. The Choral Music Department, which performed throughout the year under the direction of Ms. Marcia Neel, featured Counterpoint, Madrigals, Girls' Glee, and Choir classes. Under the direction of Mr. William McMosley, the Instrumental Music Department was active in concerts. Advised by Ms. Carrol Statom, the award-winning Drama Department participated in county-wide speech and drama tournaments.

The Fine and Performing Arts Departments taught patience and brought much appreciation as well as satisfaction.

Senior Class stives for a special year filled with memories

The 1980-81 Senior Class proved to be very active with projects such as the Child Haven party, Sadie Hawkins, a Hawaiian dance, and the Senior Ball. Fund raisers included car washes and the sale of donuts and pompons.

The Senior Ball and graduation were two of the year's biggest events. This year's Senior Ball theme was "Together ... Forever" and the colors were baby blue and silver. The event was held on May 2, 1981, at the Hacienda Hotel. Graduation was May 28 at the Aladdin Hotel.

YOUR PAGE!!

Because it has been these times that I could never forget. But who would want to! I know I'm one of us all suffer several brain damage and mental deficiancy because of all our pep talk (or should I say sex talks!)

I sure do hope the future is as great for us as the past has been. I don't think a person could ask for a better friend. I wish you all the luck and love for the big world that you face ahead of you. Remember "The road is long - but the nights are short..." (whatever!!)

Thanks again for all the trips to THE HOUSE! and all the crazy mornings, all the non-existent trips to the lake (there fun!) all the days laying out. all Perfect days for an exorsism! and many winchell's donuts!

I just can't stop writing!

Take care kid, and thank you for being a big sis that I never had.

Very Truly Yours

merci beaucoup

Barbra -
To a great prom - nice had alot of fun - remember the night in Grover's made English fun great.

The best of luck in the school year
Love & Friendship.
Bob

BARB -
It was fun having you in typing, your
A master of the typewriter

THE SCAMMER Just Kidding

How can I start. by saying thank for all the fun times at the football games. we had fun.
We also should have a great time on our Senior trip. We can go there and scam on all those California guys ! That when we'll be scammin - scamm-scammin ! But you can't ekes tell Brian cause he'll get pissed off. Lets take all classes together at UNLV maybe for our sophomore year will go to UNR. we can get an apartment or something.
well gotta go. Call me you have my number but just in case 871-0314

Love Ya
your fellow scammer
Francisco

Bob,
Many happy Memories. I wish you much happiness & success in the future you deserve it.
Some day, some young man will come along (he hasn't already) and take you away. Cause you are so pretty & nice, who wouldn't take you off your feet. Love ya, take care

Barbara,
well the year west PRETTY wild ESPECIALLY 1ST. PERIOD, I know you thought I was kind of a wild and crazy well your right and hope to stay that way at all possible. THATS all of my letters.
good luck

Love

Barbara-
English has been something huh! Those guys are crazy! Don't think you're going to cheat off Bob on the test tomorrow
You're really something! Hope to see ya sometime

Love

Barbara,
It's really been nice knowing you this year. I'm sorry about Andi Hawkins, but my old girlfriend wouldn't let me date you. If you ever want to do something, give me a call. 876-4696 Have a great summer, and DON'T CHANGE.

Love,
Jake

BARB,
WE SHOULD SOME TIME
GET TOGETHER CLASS
AND TAKE A SINGLE. I DON'T THINK
TOGETHER. I DON'T HAVE AS MUCH
WE WERE THIS TIME AS LAST
FUN TIME. HOPE TO SEE YOU
AROUND. LOVE ALWAYS DELUCA
FRANK

Barbra,
I think your a real cute girl + I'm so glad were friends, I've known ya for such a long time + I think its great you take care + have a great life- love ya,
